CONGRESSMAN RANDALL SECURES BIG SHIP CONTRACTS FOR LONG BEACH

Contracts amounting to $1,645,500 were awarded to the California Shipbuilding Co., of Long Beach, this week by the United States Government for the construction of three submarines. This shipbuilding concern recently reorganized, taking over the Craig plant and is now capitalized for $5,000,000.

Particular interest on the part of Highland Park people centers in the contracts by reason of the fact that Congressman Charles H. Randall had much to do with getting the work for the Long Beach concern.

Since assuming the duties of his office Mr. Randall has established himself strongly in the good graces of the cabinet officials at the national capital, and his word with reference to affairs in his district seems to prevail in practically every instance.

When the matter of letting the bids for the construction of the submarines came up, Mr. Randall got busy, and the result was more than anybody, even in Long Beach, had dared to hope for. In addition to the direct contract for the submarines mentioned the Long Beach boatbuilding concern is building several other naval crafts on sub-contracts, so that at this time this concern has contracts for government construction work totaling the sum of $3,015,500.

This means a wonderful activity on the part of the Long Beach shipyards, and will afford employment to perhaps 2000 additional skilled men. Also an immense prestige that will be of great value in securing further recognition at the hands of the government officials, chief of which may be mentioned the complete development of the Long Beach Harbor.

In a personal letter to Congressman Randall, George H. Bixby, president of the California Shipbuilding Co., says: "I personally appreciate your telegrams to the Secretary of the Navy, copies of which you sent me, and feel you will agree with me that the establishment of the plant at Long Beach to be devoted practically exclusively to government work will help out in securing the connection between Long Beach and Los Angeles harbors which will mean so much to the industrial interests of this city."

"I know your work in the next Congress will be interesting and of special service to this district, as well as patriotic service to the whole country in these times of change and turmoil abroad."

TROPICO BOY SCOUTS DEMONSTRATE FIRST AID TO INJURED

Last Friday evening the Tropico Boy Scouts demonstrated first-aid in many ways such as an improvised stretcher, splints for broken leg and applied bandages for dislocated collarbone, head, shoulder and made a triangular sling for the arm. They demonstrated their efficiency in signaling, knot tying, drilling and went through a succession of short snappy scout yells with such fervor that it was thought it would be impossible to sing "America" on account of hoarse voices. Mr. Ferguson, a noted attorney, and also a member of the Los Angeles council for Boy Scouts, gave a very interesting talk on the Scout motto, "Be Prepared." Two boys, Joseph and Theodore Harrison, were honorably sworn in as Scouts and received their tenderfoot badges along with six other scouts.

ROAD RACES TO BE HELD IN TROPICO THANKSGIVING DAY

One year ago Christmas Tropico enthusiasts pulled off an auto race that attracted thousands to the city and is still talked about. Amateur road races started from that event and have proved to be very popular from a publicity standpoint.

Thanksgiving Day, Nov. 25, has been chosen as the date for a return engagement and the stage is already being set with preliminary work.

The events will probably be practically the same as last year as far as races are concerned, but efforts are being made to have the entire day a day of sport to end with a street dance and confetti battle in the evening. Or races may be held in the afternoon and the evening devoted to street dance and confetti battle.

Publicity experts will have charge of the affair and every effort made to advertise Tropico as one live town. The promoters are from Tropico and no efforts will be made to make the races a financial scheme.

INTEREST IS GROWING IN K. OF P. CIRCLES

Interest in the red, yellow and blue contest of the Visor Lodge, K. of P., is waxing warm, as was evidenced by the big turnout last Monday evening.

Los Angeles Police Lodge will give a big picnic at Anaheim Nov. 13, and among the many prizes offered is $100 for the largest number of any lodge who attends. Visor is working to send some 100 down. A committee composed of Ed Shuey, A. E. Coffey, Noble Ripley, F. H. Davis and Guy Maxwell was appointed to make up the trip.

BOARD OF TRUSTEES MEET IN REGULAR WEEKLY SESSION

Pacific Light and Power Corp. informed the board that requests to move poles on Green street and Park avenue had been turned over to be complied with.

A petition, signed by owners of dogs in Pacific Home Builders' tract, protesting against dog tax, was laid over until next meeting.

Board adjourned to meet on Wednesday evening.

SAN DIEGO EXPOSITION

The expected rush of harvest-wealthy farmers from the east and middle west is on, and already a great number have arrived at the San Diego Exposition. Many more are to follow. A big number will come on the regular transcontinental trains but it is believed that the heaviest influx will result from the special farmers' excursions the first of which will arrive in California October 18.

This is operated by the Santa Fe railroad. The train, which will be one of the heaviest to come to California this year, will have about 700 tillers of the soil aboard. At the exposition they will be given a keen insight into California farming through inspection of the model farm on the grounds.

In connection with the heavy transcontinental movement which continues, the tour of 1,000 employees of the Aetna Life Insurance company stands out as a feature. The tourists after coming across the country in five special trains have just visited the San Diego Exposition. The tour comprises the largest single transcontinental movement of the year, but according to reports of traffic men it will be eclipsed by the several passenger movements just begun in the interests of eastern and middle west farmers.

PANAMA-CALIFORNIA EXPOSITION IS VISITED BY THE EDITOR AND PARTY

Panama-California Exposition publicity agents have sent out to the various newspapers a letter purporting to come from a character they have named "Scotty." These letters tell of the "doings" at the exposition. In writing a story of a visit to San Diego this newspaper purposes to answer "Scotty."

Tropico, Calif., Nov. 3, 1915.

Dear Scotty: Your numerous letters received during the past year extolling the wonders of the Panama-California Exposition and inviting us to visit you have been so alluring that my party decided to take you up and see for ourselves.

First of all, upon our arrival in your city we took up our quarters in the Barbara Worth Hotel, that's just across the plaza from the Grant Hotel, and say, "Scotty," we were certainly treated right by mine hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Lane. He is fat and over forty and the smiles just seem to ooze out. Mrs. Lane knows how to treat her guests, too. The rooms are away above the prices asked, which are reasonable, and the accommodations can't be beat. A landlord that'll go out of the way to satisfy his visitors always finds a warm spot with the newspaper men. That's what the Lane's do and they are certainly in right. We are telling everybody we know about the Barbara Worth.

After we'd washed the dust off and had a snack we hiked out to see Mr. Faulk (that's what all newspaper folks do) and he acted just as though he was glad to see us, at any rate, nothing was too good for us.

Say, "Scotty," Balboa Park looks somewhat different than it did three years ago. What with the one hundred and thirty-five foot high bridge that spans the canyon and gives one an excellent view of the extraordinary growth of shrubbery, the lake and the winding auto road that lies like a ribbon at the bottom; the walks through the groves of tropical flowers and trees; the experimental farms and orchards; the wonderful buildings, their cool, inviting pergolas, and the exhibits contained therein; the plazas and the general decorative scheme of the entire grounds, you have certainly changed a sage brush area into a wonderful garden.

If a person only went to the exposition and saw the flowers and shrubbery they would be well repaid for the time spent.

Our party were thorough in seeing the exposition and it is all that you have represented it. Our only hope is that you will be able to hold the doors open another year that we and our friends may go and see again for themselves what can be done if they only try.

Here's to you, "Scotty," and the Panama-California Exposition.

OUR PARTY.

TROPICO BASE BALL CLUB

Tropico boys crossed bats with the Los Angeles colored police last Sunday and showed a final score of 11 to 15 in Tropico's favor.

While the crowds have been very enthusiastic as rooters at these games the past summer a few forget that there is expense attached to the running of a ball club and the collections have fallen short of expenses. The matter has been under consideration and a final decision is that an admission of 15c will be charged hereafter for each gentleman—ladies free.

Something had to be done to keep going and this plan will be tried out. All fans are requested to observe these rules and help the good, clean sport along.

Sunday's game will be played with the Pacific Light and Power Corp. team.

USED CAR AUTOMOBILE SHOW TO HOLD BIG AUTOMOBILE AUCTION SALES

Los Angeles leads the country in starting and establishing, on a successful basis, many new and enterprising lines of business, which have required original lines of thought and initiative to put into operation, such as the Movie, the cafeteria, the jitney, and now, for the first time in the history of the automobile, a USED CAR AUTO SHOW, with a capacity for 500 cars and 5,000 people.

The largest tent in the world is permanently located on the vacant block bounded by Washington, Main and Hill streets, just across from the Los Angeles ball park. This is for the purpose of displaying, for sale and exchange, the largest stock of automobiles ever shown under one roof.

A big circular track inside the tent affords a very practical method of demonstrating the cars to the prospective buyers; and a very novel and practical feature of the demonstration is the big elevated drive, constructed in the center of the ring, to test out the motors, gears and brakes.

The Big Automobile Auction will be conducted every Tuesday and Saturday, from the elevated drive, which will give a large crowd a clear view of all the cars as they go under the hammer, after the track demonstration which will be given with each machine.

This big auto show, or market place, will be conducted along very similar lines to the large Eastern horse markets and auctions, which are known the world over, and which have demonstrated, in a practical business way, that a big business can be handled in this manner and meet the requirements of both the buyer and the seller in a very satisfactory way.

It seems quite logical that Los Angeles should be the first place to try to solve the problem of the most practical method to cope with the used car situation, affording the public a practical way to buy and sell their used cars, from the fact that Los Angeles county today has more used cars than any other county in the United States. There is a car for everybody and somebody for every car.

The Union Auto Bus Co., a California corporation, with a capitalization of $75,000, will operate the auto show and auctions, and also an auto and real estate exchange—autos for real estate and real estate for autos—and will also exchange in diamonds. Men of experience will be in charge of the different departments.

A gas and oil station will be operated on the grounds. Also a side tent restaurant for good eats, and another tent for accessories and specialties in the automobile line will be there. There will be a tent auto hospital, where all cars will receive any necessary attention, as to repairs and adjustments.

This big outfit will attract a great deal of interest over the country, and many other cities will follow Los Angeles in this departure, as they have in many others.

This is an age of specialization and with this concern the used car is being made the main issue, instead of a side line.

The show will officially open its winter season for business at 10:00 a. m., on Saturday, November 6, 1915, with the largest automobile auction ever held. The public are cordially invited to attend this sale—immediately following the big parade. Everyone is always welcome to come with the car he has, or to find the car he wants.

Quick work on the part of the Tropico fire department last Thursday evening prevented what might have resulted in serious damage to a house on West Palmer avenue, owned by Dr. S. A. Pollock.

A JAPANESE GARDENER ENDS LIFE IN UNFREQUENTED POOL

Last Thursday evening a tramp, who had taken some of his clothes down to a pool in the neighborhood north west of the old winery on San Fernando road, to wash, was confronted by a human hand sticking up out of the water where it had grasped some willows. The tramp, not waiting to learn more details, other than discovering a hat and tobacco sack containing 95c, came to Tropico and notified the police. Marshal Gould notified Scovern, Letton, Frey Co. and the coroner. With the tramp, Officer Gould, Mr. Scovern and Mr. Letton went at once to the place, but upon finding the place inaccessible in the darkness they decided to wait until morning, when the body was removed to the undertaking parlors and identified as L. Tobe, a Japanese gardener, who had been reported missing since Tuesday evening.

T. Tobe, aged 44, a subject from Japan, resided with his wife and child at the settlement in the Richardson tract across the Southern Pacific tracks and was a driver. On Tuesday evening at 10 o'clock Tobe left with his wagon. In the morning the wagon was found in the walnut orchard and the horse in the Stone ranch barn. Tobe was missing.

Several months ago a son who had been attending school in Los Angeles died very suddenly and the loss affected Tobe's mind. His disappearance caused some alarm among his friends and a search was instituted and the police notified.

The finding of Tobe's body in the infrequented locality far from his friends and where last seen without a scratch or sign of struggle brought a verdict from the coroner of suicide, without the aid of a jury.

The body was taken to a Japanese church near Evergreen cemetery where services were held Saturday afternoon and then cremated. The ashes of T. Tobe will be sent back to his country, accompanied by a certificate of death in accordance with Japanese laws regarding their subjects.

THURSDAY AFTERNOON CLUB TO PRODUCE PLAY NOV. 10TH

Wednesday evening, November 10, is the date that has been selected by the Tropico Thursday Afternoon Club when "Si Slooem's Country Store" under the direction of Mrs. Wayland Brown, will be produced. This farce is a realistic "take-off". One of the features of this show will be the sight-seeing car through Tropico. The cast that will provide this show includes some of the best local talent that appeared so successfully in "Just Out of College" and "Polly of the Circus." With Mrs. Wayland Brown as director, "Si Slooem's Country Store" will be the hit of the season.

ATTENTION, N. P. BANKS W. R. C. NO. 67

There will be an all-day meeting at G. A. R. hall, Monday, November 8, beginning at 10:00 o'clock to get ready for inspection. All members are urged to be present. Bring your lunch.

HATTIE TIFFANY, Sec.

The You and I Club observed Halloween by giving a party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Van Etten on El Bonito avenue, Saturday evening. Mrs. Van Etten was assisted by Ida Meyers, and the evening's program was one suggestive of Hollowe'en and its many mysteries.

Paint costs so little in comparison with the labor cost of painting that many building owners believe they can save money by doing it themselves, or by employing men who are not professional painters.

Sometimes, of course, money may be saved in this way, but unless the building owner has had enough experience to qualify as a master painter this is by no means a sure money-saving plan.

In fact, it possibly might prove the more expensive way in the end.

Painting is much more than merely brushing on the paint. It requires much more than mere handiness with the brush.

The painting skill and judgment which are essential to a satisfactory and durable job comes only from long experience and practice. The man whose experience is limited to a few jobs cannot have acquired experience enough to depend on. His work can't be more than an experiment—it may turn out all right, and it may not.

THE PHILOSOPHY OF SELLING

By HOMER ALLEN

TO THE man of the sample case, midnight bus, and expense accounts, who is content to brush along and accept orders that are written and pigeon-holed to await your coming, this article will not carry interest. Nothing is to follow that will help perform the miracle of increasing the volume of ready-made and ready-to-mail orders. The intent is to help deflect from the green trail of midwived effort.

It is intended for the one who desires to sell and has that desire so strong that an increase in sales can be had where an increase is possible. It matters not whether one is behind the counter, on the road, or selling a painter's service. At the North Pole it would fail, for one cannot sell paint or varnish where the demand is NULLIS.

In the business of selling why does one progress? Natural aptitude? You may have none. You may be one who has partially succeeded by continuous plodding, taking what you can get, here, there and anywhere. Your con of success may be the result of seventy or eighty hours labor a week.

If you are a salesman who obtains the maximum amount of business with the minimum amount of labor, read no further—but, if you see business to be still had and you are a maximum worker and a minimum producer you might develop a viewpoint or philosophy of selling that will help you show increases where increase is possible.

Successful salesmen never followed in the glittering paths of men who succeeded before them. Quite the reverse. They have to blaze their own trails and the blazing of the selling trail will not permit of definite analysis. The philosophy of selling is too great for analization, but there are some things that enter plainly and call for recognition.

Buyers and men who influence buying are naturally the ones who interest salesmen. They are not different than men of other vocations. The one who buys in car-loads isn't any different than the one who buys in cases, gallons, or sample lots. His personal peculiarities are much the same—whether he is a big or little buyer. His likes and dislikes may be different but they exist in some form or other; therefore, salesmanship has much to do with human traits and a salesman who makes a study of them is far surer of success than one who regards them lightly or ignores them totally.

The fullness of success doesn't follow indifference to composite characteristics of men accosted; so what time, thought, and study have you given to the business of selling and the things that are closely related to it?

You know your line, of course. And you know prices, terms and discounts. But what do you know of the playthings of men—the things in which all men are interested?

Success follows salesmen who show more than a passing interest in things other than merchandise. It might be what he knows about angling that appeals to the buyer who likes to fish. It might be an explanation of why a fish-line causes a ripple ten minutes before a voracious bass strikes.

The man who likes to hunt might be interested in knowing why a flock of ducks will be attracted and swing to decoys by the waving of a hunter's cap.

But these things are sport, you say. They haven't anything to do with selling. Directly they haven't, but indirectly they have. They go to make up one's store of knowledge—and exclusive knowledge exercises a powerful influence in the business of buying and selling. We are usually swayed by things that interest us and it is for this reason that knowledge and understanding of men's interests will place us in harmony with them.

From green fields and blue lakes of sports the range is great. It broadens into art, literature, and music, biology, and physiology, and the science of business, advertising, mechanics, and so on through a lengthening list of things that lead to culture, work, worry, and fun.

In art, what can you say of color, atmosphere, and treatment in the painting of pastels, oils, and water colors, to the man who is interested in them? What can you say of Rafael, Rembrandt, or Meissonier? What can you say of the art galleries?

You say that this knowledge is not essential; therefore, culture is not self-improvement, and study and observation not worth while.

What can you say of music-masters? Is it for artists and windsor ties and flowing locks? Not at all. I have in mind a buyer who uses very large quantities of paint and varnish, and still finds time to play a snare drum in an orchestra. He likes to talk about Liszt and Mozart and other old chaps of note. What have these things to do with smoke-stack black, you ask. Nothing, directly, but they are the things in which men, who really live, indulge.

To get closer to business—what thought have you given to the science of business? And, why does volume cut down gross profits and increase expenses? Why do business men strive for volume and neglect earning power; and why does expense create profit?

These things do, not concern the salesman? They do concern him, or should concern him, for the reason that his business demands he be versed in the science of business. It enables him to detect weak spots; to offer suggestions that are often accepted and acknowledged with orders.

What thought have you given to window displays; to science of advertising; to the problems of retail, and manufacturing efficiency; to the getting of the maximum of business at the minimum of effort and expense?

One can develop one's own philosophy in the matter of selling. The idea is to get a viewpoint of life and hold to it; all the while gathering knowledge that will give one the opportunity to display it modestly when the occasion demands. And, about the only subjects that are not worth much effort are war, religion, and politics.

CRISES THAT CALL FOR NERVE

"There are links in the chain of every Business Success which must be forged of nerve—pure nerve.

There are gaps in every man's career which nerve, and nerve alone can bridge.

There are times in every human life when judgment wavers, and experience fails, and counselors only confuse.

There are the crises that call for nerve. Not brassy presumption, but sustaining nerve! Nerve to carry us across the chasms where nerveless men must fall!

Nerve to believe the things we think! Nerve to do the things we plan!"

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition
of the mucous surfaces.
We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure.

Economy Hints

A penny saved is a penny earned.— Benjamin Franklin.

ARTICLES that are worn more or less evenly in all parts are best not patched, because the surplus material of the patch
being newer than that of the garment,
it will only stain or tear it.

When patching is referred to as repairing it implies putting in entire new portions of a garment, such as bands, cuffs, collars and facings, and is best learned from the ways of making the garment. The ordinary patching is cutting out worn or torn parts and putting in better material. The patch must be of the same substance, color and quality as the original material.

Entirely new material, being stronger than the garment, should not be used.
If partly worn pieces are not available
it is best to choose thinner material.
Wash fabrics should always be washed before using. Dresses generally lose some of the original color through wearing, and one may fade a patch in the sun to the right tone before using.
The first principle in patching is to have the patch show as little as possible when finished.

In inserting a patch care must be taken to have the warp of patch and article run in the one direction. Sel-vages usually all run lengthwise on garments because the warp threads have more strength. When the position of the selvage cannot readily be determined pull the material in different ways; the stronger or warp threads will yield and stretch less than the woof; or fray out a few threads and you will find the warp smooth against a wavy appearance in the woof.

There are many ways of preparing and setting in these patches, but a few usual rules are to be observed. The widths of hems (suited to the thickness of the material) must be the same at each side; the corners must be firmly and securely sewed; the patch must be on the wrong side when finished.

An easy method is to hem the patch on the wrong side and then fell it on the right. Strike or mark on the right side of the material where it is to be cut away, then mark (on the right side) for the seam allowance, usually about one-quarter inch; lastly mark the actual width of the fell according to the thickness of the material. This last marking or striking is on the wrong side, as that is where the patch is to be sewed on.

NEAT FOOTWEAR.

The Fad Styles Should Be Avoided by Women.

Regarding footwear, one cannot lay too much stress on the fact that it is one of the most important features of feminine wardrobe this season. Nevertheless the woman of good taste will disregard the many fad stockings and shoes offered to her and will select quiet, elegant pedal coverings that will distinguish her from the great mass who rush in where angels fear to tread.

It is perfectly good taste to wear the spats of white, of tan or pale gray with the morning or afternoon costume.
With the latter, however, may be worn a low shoe of white, of gray or black kid—according to the costume—with trimmings of a contrasting color.

It is always better judgment to have the hosiery match the color of the dress or suit. This makes less awkward, in effect, the woman to whom the very short skirt is not becoming,
and it makes less conspicuous the un-shapely ankle which offends the eye of the esthetic.

After several seasons of buckle ornamentation an era of simple laces or bow decoration has set in. Very few buckles are seen even in connection with the dancing slipper. Bronze vamps with champagne uppers are among the novelties offered for wear with the demi costume. They continue the color scheme of the costume and thus counteract the grotesque line of the very short skirt.

Shoe trees have improved vastly within the last few seasons. To a very large extent the wooden forms have been supplanted by those of metal.

Orange Mint Relish.

Take four large oranges, peel carefully, slice and cut into cubes the size of dice. Add an equal amount of pineapple prepared as above, sprinkle with four tablespoonfuls of powdered sugar,
two tablespoonfuls of fine chopped
mint, one tablespoonful of lemon juice and one tablespoonful of sherry wine. If the pineapple is not fully ripened crush enough to add a tablespoonful of the juice. Stir together lightly to prevent mashing the fruit.
Serve in sherbet glasses cold and garnish with candied cherries or fresh cherries or other berries, as preferred.

Cottage Cheese Hint.

In making cottage cheese use an enameled ware colander in which to which to press it. Any milk product is very easily affected by its surroundings, and a metal colander may not only give a flavor, but is apt also to slightly darken the cheese, which should be of snowy whiteness.

After it has thoroughly drained add salt, a good sized piece of butter and a tablespoonful of sweet cream. Mix, cool on ice and serve while fresh.
